

r Blend

Words

br, cr, dr, fr, gr, pr, tr

press

dress

drill

gruff

crush

brash

fresh

crash

crack

brick

trick

truck

*traffic

*frantic

*drastic

*trumpet

gremlin

gridlock

*problem

drill press

*Words for reading only.

r Blend

Nonsense Words

br, cr, dr, fr, gr, pr, tr

prath

cruss

drith

trosh

breck

freth

grush

brux

dresh

crick

proth

frish

brodlim

tramdap

greblin

*critlem

*drutless

*promness

*frontic

*bruppen

*Words for reading only.

r Blend

Sentences

1. I got Brad a slick set of drum sticks.
2. Did Rich and Dan trot to the track?
3. That cup has a lot of froth on top of it.
4. Tom did not pack well for his trip.
5. He forgot to pack his brush and his floss.
6. *Fran had to cram for the math quiz.
7. “I will pick that dress for the prom,” said Jan.
8. “I will fret if I drop the brass clock,” said Don.
9. Fran said, “Can you grab that thick brick?”
10. “Do not put the grass in with the trash,” said Bill.

*Sentence for reading only.

Trucks Can Do The Job

A truck is a big van that lugs a lot of stuff. If you have to have it, a truck can get it to you. A lot of stuff can cram into the back of a truck. Grills and grass, bricks and brass can cram into the back of a truck. Trucks can pack in a lot of stuff.

Trucks criss-cross in a lot of traffic. If a doc in Aspen has to have drugs for the sick, a truck can do the trip. If a shop in Dallas has to have fresh plums and spuds, a truck will do the trick. A truck can ship frogs to Chad in Wisconsin, and hogs to Jim in Manhattan.

Trucks Can Do The Job
continued

A lot of trucks are pick-ups, and a lot are vans. Pick-ups and vans are not that big. They cannot pick up a lot of big stuff. A big truck can put a flatbed on its back. A flatbed is a flat bed in back of the truck's cab. A van and a bus can sit on top of a flatbed truck. Flatbed trucks are big, and pick-ups and vans are not.

A truck can ship a lot of stuff. It can ship cloth for a dress. Fresh clams and crabs can fill up the back of a truck. This truck can get to shops that get moms, dads, and kids well fed. Trucks ship stuff to lots of spots.

Trucks Can Do The Job

continued

A lot of trucks pick up trash, and a lot pick up logs. A trash truck can do a big job for us. It picks up stuff that is not fresh. A truck that picks up logs can get the logs to the mill. A mill can chop the logs into a lot of stuff for us. The mill can chop up logs for baskets and clocks, rackets and sleds.

Trucks do a lot for us. They ship fresh crops, crabs, crocks, drills, and grills to us. Trucks can lug logs, trash and flatbeds. Big trucks can lug a lot, but trucks that are pick-ups and vans cannot lug that much. Trucks do the job!